Dems Dig in To Battle for Kennedy Plans

Rules Committee Control Wrested From Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP) — After scoring an important victory on enlargement of its Rules Committee, the House Democratic leadership digs in today for a long fight to enact President Kennedy's legislative program.

The fight probably will be a tough one, since Tuesday's victory for the Kennedy administration and Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas was won with only a five-vote margin.

The House voted 217 to 212 to back Rayburn's plan to enlarge the Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members, wresting committee control from a conservative coalition. Theoretically this puts liberal Democrats in control by an 8-7 edge.

The White House reported Kennedy was pleased with the outcome. Officially he had taken no direct part in the fight, but left no doubt that he favored the Rayburn plan.

Under Tuesday's action, Democrats will add two members to the committee and Republicans will add one. Republicans also have two vacancies to fill on the committee.

The new lineup will be 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans. The committee previously had 8 Democrats and 4 Republicans—with the Republicans and two conservative Southern Democrats usually in control.

Democrats slated to be tapped for membership on the committee were Reps. Carl Elliott of Alabama and B. F. Sisk of California, both of whom have voting records friendly to legislation expected to be advocated by the President.

Three normally conservative Republicans had the inside track for vacant GOP posts. They are H. Allen Smith of California, Elmer J. Hoffman of Illinois and Katharine St. George of New York.

The House vote, while nominally wresting Rules Committee control from the coalition, indicated that the coalition is a force that must be reckoned with on the House floor.

It found 22 Republicans joining 195 Democrats to uphold Rayburn, and 64 Democrats and 148 Republicans voting against him.

Technically, the loser was Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the Rules Committee, who directed the fight against what he called "packing" the committee.

But Smith took comfort from the fact that he still is chairman of the committee and will have a dominant voice in deciding when it meets and on what subjects.

Prosecutor Goes To Bat For Prisoner

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Fred V. Skok, Lake County prosecutor, went to bat Tuesday for a prisoner who has been in Lake County Jail 10 months awaiting disposition of a nonsupport charge.

As a result, the prisoner, Omar Hall, 38, of Hubbard Springs, Va., will get a pre-sentencing hearing Feb. 14.

Hall was arrested at Hubbard Springs April 13 on a warrant signed by his former wife, Mrs. Sarah Otto, who then lived in Painesville but now is living in Tennessee. He waived extradition, was brought to Painesville and pleaded innocent to the charge. He said he had paid $10 a week to Mrs. Otto until last Feb. 27, when he lost his job here and went to Virginia.

Skok took action after Hall stopped a deputy in the jail and pleaded to get things settled one way or another.

Skok, who took office Jan. 2, said there was a backlog of 96 felony cases awaiting trial dating back to 1958.

CLOSE WIN FOR SAM — Speaker Sam Rayburn might well be showing the margin of victory — five votes — as he waves after the House approved his proposal to increase the membership of the powerful Rules committee. The vote went 217-212 — handing President Kennedy a triumph over a roadblock that could have held up action on parts of his program.

February's First Weather Is as Nasty as January's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hudson River was choked with ice and New York, Maine, Massachusetts and most of New England was stifled with bitter subzero temperatures which made Feb. 1 look like the last 13 days of January.

As New England entered its 14th day encircled by an arctic air mass, Boston notched its coldest morning since Feb. 9, 1959 with a pre-dawn 2 above. Most New England readings ranged from 20 degrees to 30 degrees below zero. It was 22 below zero at Caribou, Maine, when Juneau, Alaska, recorded 23 above, and Fairbanks, Alaska, posted a minus 20.

Thermal, Calif., had a reading of 75 Tuesday and Yuma, Ariz., recorded 78, compared with an early morning 23 degrees below zero at Lebanon, N.H. and 17 below at International Falls, Minn.

Obsolete Base Study Order Can Stir Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's order for a survey looking to "elimination of obsolete bases" of the armed forces can stir up hornet nests both at home and abroad.

Even though new weapons or strategy may dictate the closing of bases, local communities which have received economic support from operation of the bases are hard to convince. They also have spokesmen in Congress.

Overseas, opinion can be divided. Some may look upon an American missile or air base as defense for the area. Others may — and often do — contend that bases may attract enemy rockets or bombers. And, as in the United States, there also is the matter of additional income for the community.

Actually, the process of trimming down the big network of Air Force, Navy and Army bases was under way before Kennedy ordered it included in the broad study.

During a six-month period ending last December, 30 major active bases were made standby or caretaker bases, reducing a June total of 772.

The rate of deactivation had been stepped up. In June, 1958, there were 840 bases at home and overseas. A year later there were 799.

summer resort island of Nantucket, 15 miles off Cape Cod today.

The steamer Nantucket couldn't get through the floes Tuesday, so Nantucket mail was sent by air from Martha's Vineyard Island.

The 14th consecutive day of below zero temperatures at Portland, Maine, broke a record of 13 straight set in 1948. It was minus 12 at Portland, this morning, but the state's lowest reading was —25 at Houlton.

Newport, Vt., had an early morning recording of —20, and the Weather Bureau saw no relief in sight for New England, except for a rise into the teens during the day in the southern sector. Northern New England was due to shiver in temperatures at least 10 below.

In New York, the cold was accompanied by stinging winds. Saranac Lake airport's thermometer stood at —39, while an unofficial 45 below was recorded at a radio station in Bloomingdale, just north of Saranac Lake. Many other —30 degree readings were noted in the Adirondacks. Watertown, east of Lake Ontario, had a —20; Oneonta, in the south-central section, had a —15; Buffalo recorded zero, and Albany 6 below.

Navigation on the Allegheny River was halted by ice up to 6½ inches thick from Pittsburgh to Lock No. 7 normally is the furthest upstream point for boats during the winter months. Navigation on the Ohio and Monongahela Rivers in the Pittsburgh areas was slowed on account of ice.

Greatest snow depth measured in the nation today was 27 inches at Blairsville, Pa.

No Flood Danger Seen for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is in no flood danger at present, Natural Resources Director Herbert E. Egom said today.

The director cited a report from the Division of Water, an agency of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. In the report, hydrologist Paul Kaser pointed out that:

1. Stream flow generally is low, one-fourth to one-third of normal in many cases.

2. Topsoil is frozen to a depth of only a few inches, not the one to two feet depth of freezing noted at the time of the floods that swept Ohio in 1959.

3. Storage areas of most of Ohio's reservoirs can hold a great deal more water.

Pushbutton War Missile Scores Amazing Success

Proposal Puts Death Penalty In Jury Hands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The jury finds the defendant guilty and recommends death."

Those words may be uttered in some not-too-far-distant day in an Ohio courtroom where a murder case is being tried.

If those words were heard, it will be because the legislature adopts a bill scheduled for introduction in the Ohio House yesterday by Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood.

His proposal falls somewhere between outright abolition of the death penalty as asked by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the present law which provides death for first-degree murder unless the jury recommends mercy.

The Kurfess bill would switch the entire psychological approach of a murder jury. Instead of being forced to recommend mercy in borderline cases, a jury would be required to take an extra step if it desired to recommend death in connection with a particularly savage murder.

Gov. DiSalle, who failed two years ago to get across his proposal to abolish the death penalty in a legislature dominated by his own party, has promised he will be back with the same proposal later this session.

After 20 days without a roll call, the House Tuesday passed and sent to the Senate bills No. 2 and No. 3 of the session. No. 1, a big corrective measure, was passed at the start of this year's session.

One of the House-approved bills would permit state universities to issue bonds for food service centers. The measure's immediate goal is to give that authority to Miami University for a $300,000 project.

The other would repeal an obsolete law applying to judicial salaries.

One of the top measures offered Tuesday was a proposed constitutional amendment providing four-year terms for state representatives. Approval by three-fifths of each house of the proposal by Rep. D. O. Taber, R-Gallia, would send it to the statewide ballot for a final decision by the voters.

Voters in 1956 approved four-year terms for state senators after turning down, in 1954, a combined proposal which would have given both senators and House members four-year terms.

Hospital Patient Is Granted Divorce

CLEVELAND (AP) — The judge took his court to the bedside of 66-year-old Swinton Bennett to grant Bennett a divorce from his bride of 14 months.

Common Pleas Judge Perry B. Jackson held court Tuesday in the room at Broadview Heights Veterans Hospital where Bennett is permanently confined with an advanced case of lung disease. The divorce from Jessie Mae Bennett, 64, of Cleveland, was granted on the ground she had verbally abused Bennett, according to his attorney.

Chimp Called Ham Signals Go-Ahead to U.S. Spacemen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—Winding up a space flight with a chipper, cheerful handshake, a chimpanzee called Ham today signaled a go-ahead for man to enter space safely.

Ham is due back this afternoon to this rocket space port—which he left mighty abruptly Tuesday atop a Redstone rocket.

The largest animal ever sent aloft, Ham's trip 155 miles high and 420 miles southeast into the Atlantic into the rescuing hands of the U.S. Navy carried several main significances:

1. It indicates manned space flight is feasible. An American astronaut is scheduled this spring to duplicate Ham's daring flight.

2. The Soviets appear likely to win the race to be first to orbit a man around the earth.

3. A very slight misfiring in the rocket system hurling out Ham's capsule may well require further tests with or without a chimp aboard, before a man goes up. But this also produced valuable dividends.

4. Ham himself is reported in excellent shape, a smart 37 pounds of amiability.

Plucked from the sea by a helicopter from the USS Donner, he shook hands with the veterinarian greeting him when his one-ton space capsule was unlocked three hours after launching.

After a medical checkup, Ham drew a bonus of a banana and a bit more apple on top of his scientifically prescribed menu.

His flight was one of graduated steps in a National Aeronautics and Space Administration program hopefully intended to put an American astronaut into several round trips about the earth in 1961.

In a big first step, Ham twice felt the crushing weight of increased gravity. Taking off, he weighed seven times more than

U.N. Council Takes Another Look at Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—Some U.N. diplomats predict the Security Council's Congo debate opening today will end in a deadlock, as have all others recently, unless the United States announces a new middle-road policy.

The mission is so secret that the Air Force won't even confirm that the satellite, launched Tuesday, will radio pictures back to earth. The orbiting vehicle is equipped with cameras to photograph ground terrain and sensors to record electro-magnetic radiation.

It can be made to transmit information as it passes over stations where data can be reproduced, stored and interpreted by automatic display equipment.

Signals from Samos II were being picked up by tracking and telemetry stations at Vandenberg Air Force Base at Oahu, Hawaii and at Kodiak, Alaska.

All orbital data was being received at the Air Force Satellite Test Center in Sunnyvale, Calif., south of the border may be named early next week and may go on tour before the end of the month.

could keep control of the ship. A Rio De Janeiro radio station, Radio Jornal Do Comercio, said Delgado was among the men who boarded the Santa Maria for the sea consultations.

The sudden development came as preparations were made to receive the ship at port under heavy guard.

A last-minute hitch preventing Galvao from sailing again could mean that the nearly 600 passengers, including about two score Americans, would have to be disembarked by ship in the calm waters near the channel to Recife harbor.

Escorted by three U.S. destroyers and a Brazilian destroyer, Galvao moved the Santa Maria into Recife harbor after a night of uncertainty and confusion.

Smith, who sailed back to Recife in the destroyer Gearing after his talk aboard the Santa Maria, gave indications that he might be acting as a go-between for the rebels and the Brazilian government. He said some of the things he discussed with Galvao had to be kept secret for the present.

A Navy spokesman said that if

What To Do with Wheat

Agriculture Secretary Freeman says it is his understanding that the wheat surplus problem will be dealt with by the Kennedy administration on a priority basis. Other spokesmen agree but say it has a low priority.

In view of these priority conflicts, the wheat grower can only wait and see. But it would not be surprising to see action centering in the 1.3 billion bushels of wheat stocks now on hand. Perhaps a way can be found to take a psychological price-depressing stigma off.

Some observers contend this mountain of wheat can be moved. Domestic consumption is 600 million bushels a year for food, feed, seed and other uses. This crop year 600 million bushels is expected to be moved abroad, but it will be given away or sold at low prices. But it appears that the stored amount is only 100 million bushels more than will be disposed of.

A poor crop might be harvested at any time, and in a world crisis 1.3 billion bushels would soon run out.

To really help farm prices, perhaps much of the wheat reserve should be put in a place where it doesn't stare markets in the face all the time. Then it could be determined how much, if any, additional government action is needed.

showing-off costs are eliminated.

It is difficult for many parents to know what to do when they face children who become Beatniks, who use soiled language, who associate with bad companions, who drift away from the advantages of means and education, who develop an affinity for dirt. Parents become distraught. In a decade they may be proud of these same children. It takes time in a period of change.

If they will think back to the crazy 1920's with its spiked beer, its Charleston and bunny-hug and all the goings on which accompanied Prohibition, including blanketed parties on the campus and panty raids of the sororities—it would seem that the world is always somewhat mad and only me and thee have lived sanely all our lives. And truth to tell, I know so little about these. As for me, I have yet to write an autobiography.

For instance, this girl who wanted to be married before graduation was in a hurry for many reasons, one of which, probably the unspoken reason, was that she feared that she would lose her boy.

When I went to college, students were expelled if they married before graduation; if they attempted trial marriage, or to use a vulgar term, shocking up, they were most certainly expelled.

Today, it seems different. The colleges and universities have abandoned supervision over such matters, just as some professors permit smoking in class and the boy and girl dress like hooligans, without taste or distinction.

Parents are often taken by surprise, as my correspondent apparently is, but the young people are not necessarily "bad" because they want cars and desire the adventure of early marriage. They are, of course, inexperienced and many of their ideas do not serve them effectively.

A young man, still at college, with a wife and perhaps a child could slow up his career because many opportunities are lost to him. On the other hand, many students claim that married life is less exhausting and time-wasting than courtship and much less expensive, because the couple

"But still they hate me. You know why, doc? I'll tell you."

"Because they think I am a bad influence on their husbands. Every time a married man in the circle of my acquaintance takes it into his head to spend a night on the town, his wife says when he comes home, 'So, you've been out with good-old-Charlie again! What has he been leading you into now?'

and also for the water heater, janitor supplies, which are normally located in a boiler room.

2. The proponents of electric heating have stated that the salary of a boiler man will be eliminated.

3. Answer: Modern automatic gas boilers require only a minimum of attendance (approximately one hour a day), to check operation and inspect controls. This can be done by janitorial personnel and similar attendance would be required of an electric heating system.

4. Therefore, the seeming apathy of the public to the electric heating announcement must be due to the lack of information issued on the subject. Some research into the heating issue has determined certain facts which should be public knowledge.

The Electric Company heating consultants were contacted and presented their story before the Gas Company representatives were given an opportunity to appear before the board. In fact, the school board voted (by a 3-2 margin) to heat electrically before the Gas Company's cost analysis was completed and presented to the board members. The pro-electric members of the school board have stated further that the Gas Company figures will not be considered and that the issue will not be reopened.

5. It therefore appears that the cost figures should be presented to the public before the school board makes what could be a serious and costly mistake. The Electric Company, by making sizable rate adjustments, has presented the following estimated annual cost of electricity for an all electric school.

Cost of Operation of lighting, cooking equipment, motors, etc., $8,400; Electric Water heating, 2,000; Electric heating cost, 18,950; Total annual electric bill, $29,350.

The Gas Company engineers have used the Electric Company estimates of heating requirements, converted the resultant kilowatts to the corresponding amount of gas, and by applying the present Ashville Franchise rate, have estimated the same amount of heating by gas would annually cost $4,319.

This represents a savings of $14,631 a year ($18,950-$4,319), or a savings over the life of the school bond (25 years) of $365,775. In addition, by using gas for cooking equipment and for water heating other savings would be derived.

The proponents of electric heating have advanced the following arguments:

1. Initial building costs would be lower by eliminating the boiler room and smoke stack necessary for gas heating.

2. Answer: Due to the high cost of electric heat, the building must be highly insulated to prevent loss of heat. The added insulation necessary to install electric heating would cost at a minimum, $150,000 which is the approximate cost of the complete gas heating system. In addition, the electric heating equipment would cost approximately $100,000 on top of the added insulation expense. Although a boiler room is unnecessary with electric heating, space is required for transformers and switch gear

3. The White House has 150 rooms including solarium, barbershop, and doctor's and dentist's offices, as well as a movie theater, swimming pool and bomb shelter.

SOMBER STATE OF AFFAIRS — A joint session of Congress applauded a smiling President Kennedy (inset), then heard him deliver a somber State of the Union address in which he said the nation is "near-ing an hour of maximum danger."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The real debate concerning our loss of gold is whether the drain with its strain on the dollar should be stopped—that's taken for granted—but whether the measures proposed will do the job.

President Kennedy sums up the problem this way: The overall deficit in our balance of payments with the rest of the world increased by nearly $11 billion in the last three years. And holders of dollars abroad (foreigners and Americans) converted some $8 billion of that into gold once held by the Treasury.

All bank economists heard from agree with the President that the dollar must be maintained at its present level, which means the gold price must be kept at $35 an ounce.

But then you get into the real dispute.

At one extreme are those who say that the dollar can be defended—not alone by bringing the dollar's overseas outgo and income into balance—but only if it is also protected at home by stabilizing prices and putting and keeping the U.S. Treasury on a balanced diet. In other words, by licking inflation, which was the original culprit in weakening and threatening the status of the dollar.

At the other extreme are those who hold that the gold loss isn't serious yet, is nearing an end anyway from natural causes, and steps already taken to trim overseas spending will make it end certain.

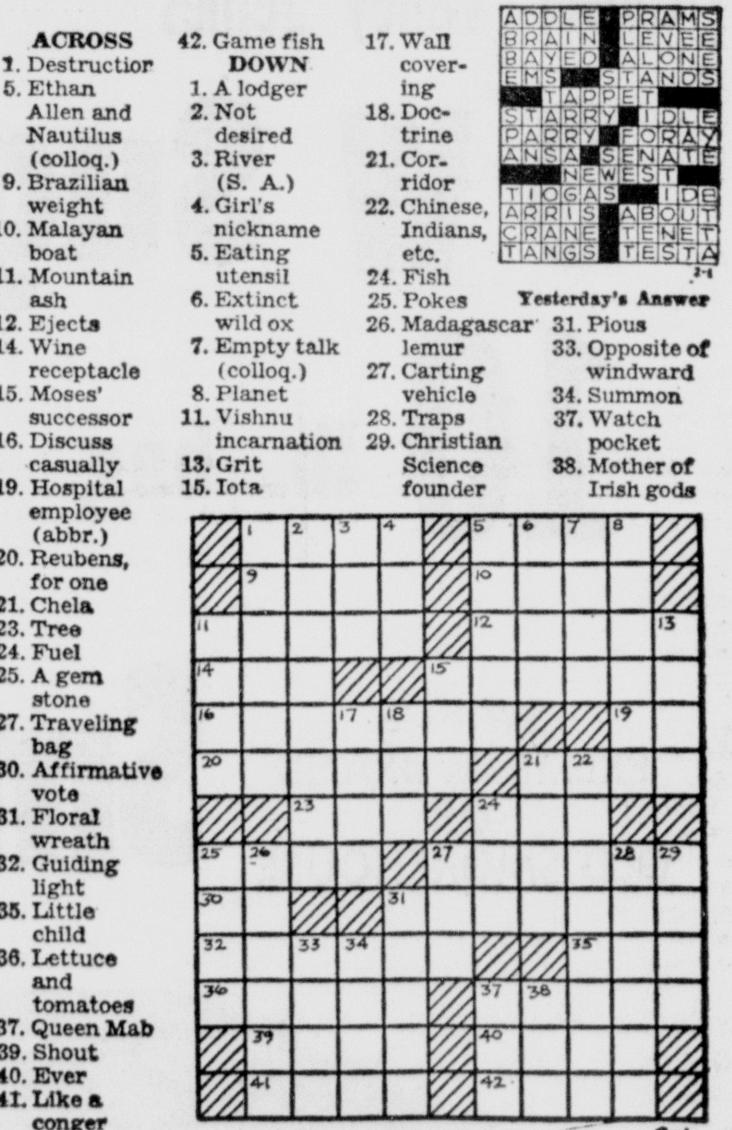

In between are those who hold that the loss of gold in the last

"only a rectification of the balance of payments deficit will bring to an end the annual outflow of gold. All other measures are only temporary and do not go to the root of the problem."

But he insists that the U. S. gold stock is still large enough to meet all the legitimate requirements of the country. He holds that gold no longer plays a significant role as a basis for domestic credit, but that its principal function now is to effect international payments.

Dr. Nadler's thesis is: "The dollar problem is an international one. It was caused by the efforts of the United States to help the other nations and to protect them against Soviet aggression. It must therefore be solved by international cooperation and agreement."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's televised news conferences — with the second coming today — could become a tremendous lobby for him.

1. From coast to coast he will reach various groups affected by his programs and by so doing stimulate them into pressuring Congress for action.

2. He will, to a degree never achieved by any other president, keep himself in the public mind.

He could, of course, manufacture disaster by pulling some prize boners in national view. He seems confident that he won't.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

The weather was clear and mild over the southern part of the state this morning while the northern counties had some light snow and cold. Early morning temperatures ranged from 14 in Youngstown to 31 in Cincinnati. Cleveland had 15. Columbus 25.

The trend toward moderating temperatures over the past few days will be reversed when cold Arctic air drops down into Ohio during the next two days. The morning weather map showed a combination low pressure over Oklahoma and high pressure over the central Canadian provinces.

The Oklahoma low will travel eastward and produce some snow over the state Thursday, opening the way for the cold to move into Ohio Thursday night and Friday. The light snowfall over the northern counties added one to three inches of new snow in the area through Akron and Youngstown, and further north along Lake Erie.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures expected to average 6.8 degrees below normal. Normal high 35, low 17-21. Cold Thursday and Friday, moderating over the weekend, colder again Monday. Intermittent light snow Thursday, scattered snow flurries Friday through Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures expected to average 4-8 degrees below normal. Normal high 37-40, low 21-24. Colder Thursday and Friday, warmer Saturday, turning colder again by Monday. Snow likely Thursday and again about Monday.

Mental Tests Ordered For Cincinnati Youth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge Benjamin Schwartz of Juvenile Court says he won't consider jurisdiction in the case of a Negro youth, 16, who admitted raping a white hospital worker, until the youth has mental tests. The judge reported Tuesday night on plans for psychiatric study for the tall, thin youth.

The youth, a dishwasher at the hospital, was arrested Monday night after an 18-year-old college student who does volunteer hospital work said she was raped at knifepoint in a storeroom. Police said the youth admitted knifing a girl in a Central High School washroom last August and forcing three other white women to disrobe under threat.

Cuyahoga State Solon Collapses in Hotel

WILLIAM RALPH BIBE

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, this paper is running descriptive articles on the criminals wanted by the FBI.)

WILLIAM RALPH BIBE is being sought by the FBI for violation of conditional release from a federal penitentiary. This convicted bank robber, who reportedly would "kill a man without looking back," has spent almost half of his life in prison.

A federal warrant was issued on April 10, 1959, by the United States Parole Board of Washington, D. C., charging that Bibee violated the term of his conditional release from the U. S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

The fugitive, also known as Ralph Beebe, Ralph Bibee and Ralph Bybee, has worked as laborer, shoe repair man, salesman and truck driver. Associates describe him as very anti-social, nervous and a sometimes solemn person.

Bibee, known to have many prior arrests for drunkenness, is reportedly an alcoholic, spending considerable time in low class bars. Since he likes to frequent the "skid row" areas of towns, he may be hiding there in a rooming house or small hotel.

The wanted man has been convicted for armed bank robbery, described as a man who would not hesitate to kill, and should hence be considered very dangerous.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 49; Born, Kirksville, Mo. (not supported by birth records); Height, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches; Weight, 140 to 153; Build, medium; Hair, brown, graying and thinning; Eyes, hazel; Complexion, medium. Has half-inch scar above left eyebrow, two-inch scar above right wrist, half-inch scar on palm of right hand; tattoos, dagger right forearm, "V" or "I" on left forearm.

INFORMATION concerning fugitive should be telephoned to the nearest FBI office.

Prisoner Discovers Jail Has 'Ears'

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Charles Bismark has learned that jail walls do have ears.

Not long after he started trying to saw his way out of Lake County jail Monday, his cell was the object of a search that turned up four hacksaw blades and two partially sawed cell bars.

Deputy Frank Bizzack said he heard suspicious rasping noises over an intercom system and decided to investigate.

Bismark, 25, of Painesville, had been awaiting trial for breaking into a local gasoline station. He pleaded guilty when arraigned in Municipal Court on a charge of attempted jailbreak and was bound to the grand jury.

Two youthful visitors had slipped him the blades last Thursday, Bismark told authorities.

Malignant?

- Meniere's Disease
- Impotency
- Extra Kidneys
- Asthma & T.B.
- Paternity

Q. What is the difference between benign and malignant growths?

A. The basic difference is that a benign growth does not spread or "metastasize" to other parts of the body. A malignant growth means cancer, which, if unchecked, may spread and cause death.

Q. Does Meniere's disease ever leave suddenly, for no apparent reason? If so, is hearing wholly or partially restored?

A. Head noises and dizziness associated with Meniere's disease tend to come and go and there may be long intervals between attacks. Deafness usually gets worse although in some cases the progressive deafness tends to clear up temporarily following an attack of dizziness.

For those couples who have attained emotional maturity, who can cast off old concepts and base their relations on love, respect and dignity," he says, "the Golden Age of Marriage can be their right here and now in 1961."

All of the above factors, Dr. Mayer believes, will help eliminate many of the symptoms of unhappy marriage — in-law troubles, money disputes and alcoholism.

The man who holds a doctorate in both law and psychology has reached these conclusions after 30 years of "freeing so called incompatible couples"; returning to college for postgraduate work in psychology and marriage counseling; a decade of patching together broken hearts.

Tracing the history of marriage, he points out "The first marriages were simply marriage by capture — the caveman would conk a likely female on the head and drag her home to be his mate. Then came marriage by purchase and later marriages arranged by families.

Just because the new concept of marriage will not be prevalent until 1975, Dr. Mayer is quick to add, doesn't mean one has to wait for marital bliss.

For those couples who have attained emotional maturity, who can cast off old concepts and base their relations on love, respect and dignity," he says, "the Golden Age of Marriage can be their right here and now in 1961."

Other factors in the changing American life which he says will contribute to happier marriages include: greater family income and (maybe) a shorter work week and more leisure with the family.

Such a concept doesn't fit modern urban life where a wife has new independence and possibly a job and a husband is expected to do his half of the housework. The resultant turmoil, Dr. Mayer says, has in many cases reversed roles. The wife becomes masculine and domineering and the husband feminine and submissive.

Marriage, based on the already outmoded beliefs in masculine domination, conjugal rights and wife-duty, will disappear," Dr. Mayer believes "and in its place, love and dignity of each partner will be re-established as the basis for marriage.

Companionship will be the keynote. Husband and wives will be able to clearly reaffirm the real enduring values — the worth of the human personality, the dignity of man and woman and child — the basic goals of human living, long frustrated in incongruous traditions."

Among the factors which Dr. Mayer says will help bring this about are:

A better understanding of oneself. More people will try to understand their motivations, fears and frustrations and attain emotional maturity.

Less domestic drudgery. Greater use of prepared foods and more labor-saving devices and easier-to-maintain homes will reduce domestic duties.

Education in infantile concepts of romantic love will give way to a more intelligent choice of one's mate as well as prepare young people for the realities of married life.

Private Lake Fish Permit CaseAppealed

Sunday February 5th (2:30 p. m.) for the date of her open church wedding to Mr. William Phillips. Reception will follow for family in the social room of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Meggett of Clyde are announcing the birth of a son, Jeffery Scott, born on Jan 23rd. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armentrout are the maternal grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Scott had as their recent guests for several days, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott Jr. of Oklahoma.

Robert Armentrout was a Saturday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armentrout.

The company collects about $25,000 yearly to permit Ohio and Pennsylvania residents mainly to fish on the lake, records showed. The company also has similar arrangement for its nearby Pine Lake.

At issue in the appeal is the question of whether the Legislature has the right to enact licensing requirements affecting private property under a provision of the Ohio Constitution permitting laws "to provide for conservation of natural resources of the state"

Fish Triple Play

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP) — Striped sea bass from Virginia's James River were transported to Kentucky Lake on the Tennessee River by a triple play.

The fish, which live part of their lives in salt water and part in fresh, were collected by the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory. An Army helicopter airlifted them to Langley and a Tennessee National Guard plane flew them to Kentucky Lake.

Propagation of the fish in fresh water lakes has been successful in both Virginia and South Carolina.

30,000 Chickens Killed in Blaze

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Thirty thousand chickens perished early today in a fire that destroyed a large barn on the farm of David Detweiler on Ohio 619 one mile east of Uniontown in Stark County. The loss, which also included some farm equipment, was estimated at $75,000.

Lack of water hampered some 50 firemen from surrounding communities who battled the blaze for more than four hours. They had to haul water in tank trucks from a creek a mile away.

Cause of the blaze was not determined, but firemen said it may have started from the heating unit.

Pop Left-Overs Into Icebox Quickly, Advice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ready-to-serve foods, and left-overs, hot and cold workers, school lunches and eyesight all have a focus on health:

It's best to pop your left-overs into the refrigerator as soon as possible, hot or not, researchers report. Notions that the food should cool first are false.

The idea probably came from days when ice was used to cool the ice box and hot foods raised the temperature of the box and melted the ice.

But new studies show that disease-producing bacteria can grow in food from 44 degrees to 114 degrees Fahrenheit. Cooking above 116 degrees kills the germs, and cooling to 42 degrees inhibits germ growth. Keeping foods, including pre-cooked, ready-to-serve types and vending machine foods, in the growth temperatures should be avoided.

How important is an adequate diet? A school lunch program offered by U.S. researchers in the highlands of Peru offers a clue. After several years of adding up to 1,000 calories a day and needed vitamins to the almost completely vegetarian diet, researchers report weight gains double what they were at the beginning of the study.

If you are a long-time Southerner, you'll get used to hot spells quicker—and you'll sweat less and stay cooler in hot weather than a visiting Northerner.

Scientists found this difference in young college students from New England and Southern Florida. Life in the Southern climate seems to equip Southerners with better heat-regulating mechanisms.

When the armed services pick men for duty in hot areas, they might consider the individual's geographical origin as well as his physical fitness, scientists suggested.

Three-quarters of eye disorder cases involve some emotional conflict—often resulting in an abnormal, unrealistic sort of eye self-consciousness. This can lead to further, sometimes disabling symptoms, British doctors report.

Everyone's a Capitalist Now As Investment Clubs Sprout

Mr Khrushchev's theory of American Capitalism — a small core of big businessmen pulling all the industrial strings — has been blown to bits by over 20,000 groups of homemakers, school teachers, office workers, high school students and laborers across the country! These are the new Capitalists," according to Thomas O'Hara, executive director of the National Association of Investment Clubs.

Take a group of twelve Detroit family men. When they were in high school back in 1939, they formed an investment club, got a financial advisor, and started their program. To date, they have invested a little over $41,000. If they chose to sell today, even after already spending $29,000 of earnings, their assets would total over $140,000!

The members of a Massachusetts church congregation decided to jointly invest in American industry. They each paid $10 a month. Today, they're ready to rebuild their church with the dividends, and get back their original investment to boot!

The Twenty Club of St. Cloud, Minn., is made up of homemakers. These girls have been numbered among the new capitalists for three years. When the club was founded, each member put up $100 and then $10 a month. The last two years, they've been investing $25 every two months. A Minneapolis broker helps them find good buys. Total worth of The Twenty Club today: $19,000!

Even high schoolers get into the act. What better way to reach the top of the economics class... and save for college? With investments in stock comes interest in and knowledge of the workings of U.S. economy.

THE 15 members include one orthopedic manufacturer, one attorney, one utility assistant sales manager, one personnel interviewer, one nurseryman, one home builder, one teacher - accountant, one tire dealer, one banker, one sales engineer, one city employee, one saw chain manufacturer, one electronics manufacturer, and two association managers.

A study just completed by the New York Stock Exchange shows the number of new capitalist groups has increased by 2½ times in the last 2½ years. There are now 20,100 investment clubs in the country as compared with 8,100 in June, 1957.

A study just released by the National Association of Investment Clubs from its Detroit headquarters shows there is good reason for the increase in clubs. People are earning more money in their clubs than in many other investment media.

NAIC's member clubs have a record of earning 8 per cent a year compounded on their members' investment. These earnings come with time; most clubs less than three years old show negligible earnings, but older clubs seem to be consistently profitable with many earning as high as 20 per cent a year.

Among these recent additions are the "NOW" girls of Washington, D.C.—2,000 strong. What brought them together? They're all Naval Officers' Wives (NOW). There are seven NOW clubs each makes its own decisions regarding study and purchases of stock. Member know that all important feeling of security for the years ahead.

Our capitalism works best when most of our people understand investing, and therefore, can intelligently provide capital to expanding industries — small, medium and large.

The new capitalists are putting this theory to work. With the help of the National Association of Investment Clubs (NAIC), where they find out both how to set up their clubs and to select securities carefully, they're buying stock in their own futures and the future of America.

NAIC sends out a monthly bulletin to member clubs throughout the country and has a manual which teaches clubs sound investment principles and techniques in selecting stocks. From these, the investors learn of trends in industry, of new "growth" companies, of the activities of other clubs across the nation.

ship is mostly transient — the husbands are rarely stationed in Washington, D.C. for more than four years — but the girls have this problem all ironed out.

Members leaving the area can either withdraw with a penalty or contributions.

Diversification of interest among members of an investment club is recommended by NAIC. It provides the broadest possible base for discussions, information and opinions when it comes to selection of good quality stock. But one club — the Oregon Trial Investors — carries this principle to the full extreme.

Retirement Of Land Urged

Special Task Force Reports to Kennedy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Indeterminate federal prison terms—with provisions for periodic psychiatric examinations—have been meted out to two New York men who pleaded guilty to kidnaping an Ohio doctor.

The committee said it believes farmers are not ready to support rigid supply control programs at this time.

During the campaign Kennedy had outlined a rigid control program to bring supplies into balance with market demands and to raise farm prices.

The report was prepared by Lauren K. Soth, editor of the editorial page of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; J. Norman Efferson, dean of the College of Agriculture of Louisiana State University, and Jesse W. Tapp, vice president of the Bank of America at San Francisco.

Kennedy went over the agricultural situation today with members of this task force, as well as with heads of special groups assigned to problems affecting wheat, feed grains and cotton.

The Soth-Efferson-Tapp group's report said that if the grain surplus is not brought under control soon — by means of land retirement—"it will spill rapidly into the livestock industries, resulting in expansion of meat, dairy products and poultry products and sharply lower prices and net incomes for the producers of these products."

Ohio Senator Snorts at Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, called the Civil Defense program a "billions-dollar boondoggle" in a Senate speech Tuesday.

Young, who has made a series of speeches on the subject, said he had just learned that Civil Defense officials have proposed "a scheme whose foolishness rivals anything previously proposed or perpetrated by them."

"It is my information that the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization plans to ask Congress for a $50-million appropriation to equip all power plants to transmit a signal which would sound off buzzers plugged into electrical outlets in American homes," he said.

The members begin with a desire to make a sound investment for steady growth, and to learn the principles of sound investment. They can afford a modest sum every month and each is willing to attend monthly meetings, stick to the club program, and do a little "homework" to help the club plan its buying program.

"We are confident," say O'Hara "that most of the new Capitalists, the average man or woman, can accumulate $10,000 or more in securities through their club. Such accumulations can be useful in providing stability for the family, educational opportunities, and a happier period of retirement. Marx Lenin and Stalin would never recognize these new masses learning Capitalism and helping it to give new strength, meaning and dignity to the ordinary citizen."

"In Cleveland, Ohio evacuation is preached," he said. "Residents are told to flee on highways toward a neighboring city whose residents are told to flee toward Cleveland.

"In the meantime, Civil Defense officials have caused signs to be placed on these highways warning that they will be closed to civilian traffic in event of enemy attack. Try and figure that one out!"

END OF THAT INVASION SCARE—Some of 100,000 militia members below a balcony in Havana wave their berets from rifle muzzles after Cuban Premier Fidel Castro proclaimed an end to Cuba's three-week, Yankee invasion-scare mobilization. Castro offered to "begin anew" a quest for peace with the new U. S. Kennedy administration.

Bad Choice

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Arthur Dale Phillips Jr. of Hibbing, Minn., was charged with vagrancy when police spotted his washed sox and underwear.

Phillips picked the wrong place to do his laundry — the police station washroom.

Bribery Conviction Goes to Top Court

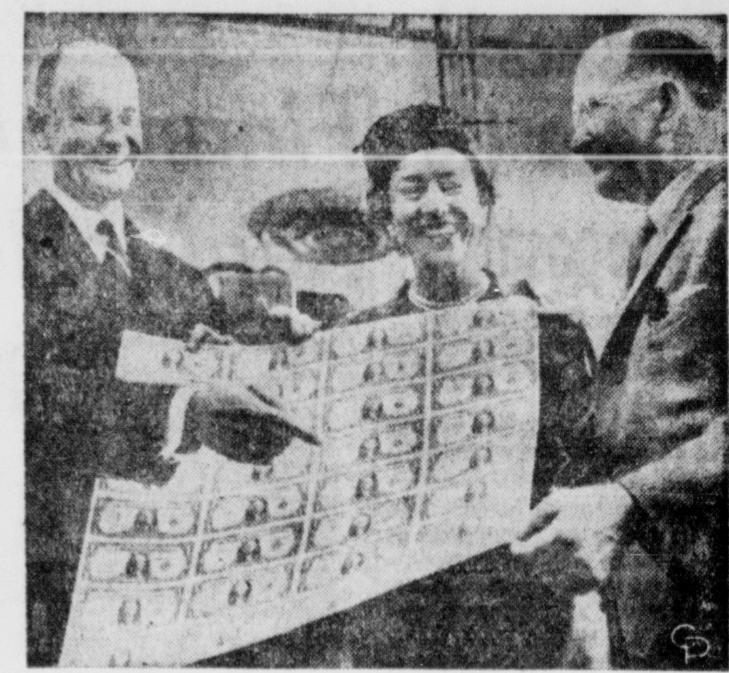

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George Markos, former coin machine operator, appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court today from his 2-20 year prison sentence for offering bribes to Mayor Clifford C. Froelich of Dover.

Markos, 64, was charged in Tuscarawas County indictments with offering $1,500 over a 15-month period ending in May 1959 for gambling protection. The charges stemmed from an attorney general's investigation into vice conditions in neighboring Stark County.

Four others were indicted on charges of offering bribes and the mayor on charges of accepting them. All are awaiting trial.

Toy Gunwoman

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — Two men accosted Mrs. Idell Hallman as she drove along a highway. They crowded her car off the road and tried to rob her. She pulled a huge pistol and they fled. The gun was a toy she was taking to a nephew.

Ohio Assembly Gets New List Of Proposals

Briefly, among 26 new bills introduced Tuesday were measures to:

Require each Ohio motor vehicle to have an outside rear-vision mirror as well as one on the inside.

Allow liquor permit holders who violate the laws or regulations to pay what would amount to fines—rather than closing during suspension periods—if a suspension was for 60 days or less. The fines would range from $10 to $100 a day, depending upon the type of permit held.

Make a general revision of municipal annexation law, allowing owners, rather than resident freeholders, to sign annexation petitions, permit annexation petitions to specify municipal annexation only while leaving existing school districts undisturbed, but remove from the State Board of Education the responsibility of determining whether school territory should be transferred pursuant to annexation.

Repeal the axle-mile tax on big trucks and substitute for it a licensing schedule based on weight. Sponsors assert the change would reduce costs of administration.

Allow permanent, combined fishing, hunting and trapping licenses for persons over 65.

Require $20 health board permits for installation of household sewage disposer and water systems. The bill also would require inspections.

Authorize townships to levy income taxes to the present one per cent limit allowed cities and villages.

Prohibit sale of knives with more than two-inch blades to persons under 18.

On tap today is a House vote on a bill to permit the Ohio Highway Department to contract to pay Ohio's proportionate share in the cost of building Ohio River bridges. The immediate aim is to permit Ohio to share with West Virginia the cost of a proposed bridge in the Marietta area. The state now is limited to sharing the cost of maintaining existing bridges.

The Senate, by a not-too-harmonious rendition of "Happy birthday," wished same to Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mecham, R-Athens, who was 68 Sunday.

The House adopted a resolution congratulating Pfc. Patricia Ann Johnson of Bainbridge who has been designated the outstanding WAC for the last quarter of 1960.

Governor DiSalle today asked the legislature to make it a felony to conspire to violate Ohio's gambling, drug and prostitution laws.

"Where we have difficulty," DiSalle told the Republican legislature in a special message, "is with the crime overlords . . . (who) are practically immune from the attacks of law enforcement officials."

DiSalle's proposal two years ago was broader and covered conspiracy in a number of fields. But, he pointed out, while the bill passed the House overwhelmingly, "some individuals were able to convince some of the members of the Senate that there existed a danger to civil rights in the passage of this legislation."

The governor asserted he saw no civil rights endangered then and none endangered now.

Pointing out the State of Ohio does not have a general police force, DiSalle asserted:

"The least the state can do is to provide an effective tool which may be used by local officials to bring forth the full wrath of government on these violators who now feel so immune."

He ventured the opinion that passage of his criminal conspiracy proposal would mean that syndicate criminals soon would find greener pastures in which to operate—outside Ohio.

"We have found in the last two years that local law enforcement officials with complete honesty of purpose find it difficult to eradicate the syndicated operators," the governor asserted.

"We must fight the organization and not just the individual," DiSalle declared in his plea for the bill.

"By making it a felony to violate these laws we will be able to reach the gang leader. Although most of these gamblers are willing to take chances, they will not gamble the possibility of conviction for a felony which will incarcere them for a long period in the penitentiary."

A Whistle Saves Another's Life

CAMPION, Ky. (AP)—Johnny B. Childers, crippled and in his 80s, keeps a police whistle in the rural home where he lives alone. The whistle is to summon help for himself but recently he used it to help a neighbor.

Nelson Adams, 63, who also lives alone, fell in front of his house and could not get up. Childers, seeing Adams through a window, worked his chair to the front door, opened it and blew the police whistle.

Some children heard the whistle, investigated and summoned help for Adams.

Financial News Really Not Mystery

Learning to read can buy your ticket to Moneyville, learning to read the financial news in your newspaper, that is.

What makes an early-rising baker desert his oven for the telephone at 9 a.m.—same time his broker puts a key in the office door downtown?

The financial page in the morning paper showed a downward trend in grain prices. With the broker's word to back him, friend baker postones that big flour or bread 'til next week . . . when the price might be lower.

And while his bread browns, the baker seeds his pockets with gold.

Money wisdom isn't a monopoly of brokers, bankers or bakers. The stock market is everybody's business, says Elmer C. Walzer, former Financial and Business Editor of United Press International.

Are you thinking of building a house, job hunting, cashing Government bonds, or joining an investment club? Sharpen your mental tools and do a bit of prospecting on the financial page first.

Read the text to get a general picture of current business. You'll find daily dispatches from Washington, news or money markets, interpretation of economic trends.

GO FURTHER. Those long columns are statistical tables . . . stock bond, and commodity quotations, averages, indexes, corporation reports, dividend declarations, foreign exchange rates. Now you're ready for the interpreter!

Like any specialized page—spells, etc.—the financial section is written in a language all its own . . . and hasn't room every day to carry a detailed explanation of everything printed.

Each line in the stock market table is a story in itself. It may involve one transaction or hundreds. Big trades at market opening—10 a.m.—represent transactions accumulated overnight.

To show the tabulating job involved, we'll consider trades on one company's stock, during one typical day.

Trades from 10 a.m. to noon were: 100 shares at 103 1/4 (dollars, each share); 100 at 104; 100 at 105; 100 at 104 1/4; 100 at 104, and 100 at 104 1/4. Tabulators would reduce this information to one line for publication in the noon edition of a paper:

Sales Open High Low Last
(by the hundred) 10 103 1/4 105 103 1/4 104 1/4

The tabulator would insert data—high and low prices for the year, probably been wondering about recent talk about "the money market."

It isn't an actual market at all, of course; it centers in banks, the Federal Reserve System, the Government Bond market . . . Wall Street, New York—and Main Street, America. The Federal Reserve has the power to make money plentiful or scarce—it also helps the Treasury float bonds.

Government bond dealers must always be ready to quote buying and selling prices on Government securities traded.

Sometimes it is better to own stocks than bonds. During a prolonged upward movement in stocks—suggesting an inflationary period approaching—it is better to own goods than cash, stocks rather than bonds.

Choose that time to ask for a raise in salary, or switch to a more demanding job—business is expanding, when stock prices soar.

But at the same time, bond prices—including Government bonds—may decline. You might be able to detect a future opportunity to buy bonds, when they may reach a point where their yield is higher than bank interest.

Vital information—all "in code" on the financial page of your newspaper—can be yours every day. It flashes signals to you. And you'll know more than the next person . . . about the fortunes of Americans and America.

Airborne TV Meet Tomorrow

Corwin PTA Hosts Ohio State Expert

Richard B. Hull, director of radio and television broadcasting at Ohio State University, will speak on "Your Children and Airborne Television" at an open meeting of the Corwin School PTA to be held in the High School social rooms at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Hull will speak about the forthcoming experimental program of school instruction through the medium of television, and the possibilities of such a program for the schools in Circleville.

Hull has been in the field of educational television almost since its inception. He was the first executive director of the Joint Council on Educational Television in 1951. Presently, he is head of the Ohio Council on Educational television, vice chairman of the Ohio Governor's Commission on Educational Television, and consultant on radio-television management, programming and research to the Midwest Council on Airborne Television Instruction.

The meeting is open to the general public, and it is hoped that it will be of particular interest to parents of children in the city schools.

Mailing Card Plan Urged For Idle Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Question for jobless workers:

Are you tired of waiting on long lines each week when you report to state unemployment offices in order to collect benefits?

State Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Youngstown, says he has the answer to that problem. Why not, he asks, just put the information required by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation on a small card and mail it in?

The long lines and delays in reporting in person, he adds, could thus be eliminated. The present system tends to be degrading, depressive and meaningless to the unemployed worker, Gilmartin asserts.

The Youngstown lawmaker said Monday he is preparing legislation to allow jobless people to report each week by mail. He said that method would be less costly and would allow BUC workers to use more of their time finding employment for those who haven't ready to receive dividend checks, reports and other mail from the company, direct.

Do you own bonds? The Alexander Hamilton Institute points out that the interest stops after a bond is called for redemption. In the market section of your financial pages you'll find an item title "Bonds Called for Redemption". Cash 'em in immediately . . . there's no point in holding onto bonds past that date.

BOND OWNER or not, you've probably been wondering about recent talk about "the money market."

It isn't an actual market at all, of course; it centers in banks, the Federal Reserve System, the Government Bond market . . . Wall Street, New York—and Main Street, America. The Federal Reserve has the power to make money plentiful or scarce—it also helps the Treasury float bonds.

Brando Grumps in Tahiti At New Filming of 'Mutiny'

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP movie columnist Bob Thomas is in the South Seas for a look at movie-making in that tropic paradise.

Tahiti. There, MGM is doing a remake of the classic "Mutiny On the Bounty." The star, playing Fletcher Christian, is Marlon Brando. Following is the first of three articles: "Brando in Tahiti."

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

ABOARD H.M.S. BOUNTY, off Tahiti (AP)—Marlon Brando fastened a rubber band around his slightly graying locks to keep them from flying in the wind.

"What a bore," said the actor, his hair grown long for his role as Fletcher Christian in "Mutiny On the Bounty."

Brando leaned against the rigging of the majestic three-master, anchored off Papeete under a leaden sky. A hundred film makers were waiting—at $23,000 a day—for sunshine that never came.

Except for his flapping hair, Brando seemed little concerned about the delay, nor did he appear happy that the film company would be returning to Hollywood early because of the rainy season.

The company took a chance that the rains would come late, but they didn't, and its members have begun heading home. Brando and crew will return when the rains end.

On the first day of shooting 10 weeks ago, he remarked to director Carol Reed: "I'm sorry to see this day come. It just means one day sooner that we will be going back to the states."

He gazed at the Tahitian shore with its groves of curved-trunk cocoa palms and the green hills and purple peaks beyond. "I'll hate to leave," he said. "This is the first time in 10 years that I've been able to feel comfortable among people."

In Tahiti, Brando can walk the streets unnoticed. It's not because the people don't know who he is; many do. But Tahitians never bother their fellow man, and Brando has achieved an anonymity he hasn't known since he became a star.

Some may think it unusual for a man to be a movie star and want to remain anonymous. But then, as the world well knows, Brando is not the usual kind of star. Director Reed, who has an Englishman's restraint of expression, has said, "There is no more exciting, no greater actor in the world today." And he said it before a group of distinguished Bri-

52 YEARS BEHIND BARS—A committee, with headquarters in Beverly Hills, is seeking the release of Robert F. Stroud, double slayer known the world over as "The Birdman of Alcatraz," who recently observed his seventy-first birthday and started his fifty-third year behind bars. A movie on Stroud's life is being done by Burt Lancaster. Stroud was convicted, in 1909, of killing a Juneau, Alaska, bartender. In 1916 he killed a guard in Leavenworth Penitentiary. He was in solitary confinement at Alcatraz until 1959, when he was sent to the Springfield, Mo., federal medical facility.

Actress Sobs 5 Minutes, Gets $2.5 Million

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress June Allyson, in tears, divorced actor Dick Powell today with testimony that he was so busy running his television production empire he didn't come home to dinner.

She also got a $2.5 million property settlement and custody of their children, Pamela, 12, and Richard, 10.

She ended their 15-year marriage by testifying during the five-minute hearing: "Many times my husband wouldn't come home for dinner. When he would come home, he would say he was sorry, that he had been tied up in a meeting.

Richard also was critical of everything I did. Dinner was either too early or too late. He even criticized the clothes I wore. It made me cry all the time. I lost a lot of weight."

Ashville, Walnut Brace for Battle

The decks will be cleared for action when Ashville and Walnut clash for a traditional cage battle Friday night at Walnut where Homecoming will be observed.

The Ashville - Walnut basketball rivalry is one of the oldest in Pickaway County. Seldom, if ever does this annual meeting fail to bring a multitude of thrills.

Making the contest all the more interesting is Walnut's Homecoming and the fact the two teams currently are deadlocked for second place in the Pickaway County league with identical 4-1 records.

The tilt signals a card of eight county and area games to be played Friday. Two more loop tests have Darby at Scioto in another long neighborhood rivalry and Williamsport in another traditional battle.

ROSS County games slate Huntington at Centralia and Kingston at Chillicothe Catholic Central.

Ohio Hunting Accidents On Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Statistics on Ohio hunting accidents for 1960, showing alarming increases in both the fatal and nonfatal categories, indicate:

1. The rabbit hunter is most likely to get hurt.

2. It will probably be with a shotgun rather than rifle.

3. The most likely place is in District 3, in northeastern Ohio.

4. Chances are it will happen during the upland game season, which began Nov. 15 last year.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife reports that despite a determine safety drive, accidental woundings in 1960 increased 74 per cent over 1959, and the number killed was up 80 per cent.

There were 180 casualties, 18 of them fatal. Comparable figures for the previous year were 103 and 10.

District 3 accounted for 56 shootings, 4 fatal.

The division also said that most of the 180 hurt suffered self-inflicted injuries. There were 52 of these casualties last year, 32 in 1959.

Rabbit hunters both years accounted for the largest number of wounded, 81 last year and 38 in 1959.

The most accident-prone hunters were those in the under-19 age group. They accounted for 37 accidents last year, six more than the previous year.

Between the opening of the upland game season and the end of the year, most of the accidents, 127 of them, including 5 fatal, occurred. The figures the previous year were 59 accidents and 4 deaths.

Shootings were involved in 145 of last year's accidents.

Cincy Bearcats Show Power in Mo-Valley Loop

Sophomore Leads Way To Victory over Third-Ranked Bradley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's Bearcats, without Oscar Robertson and with a new coach, have come back to once again challenge for a Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship that everyone thought was powerful Bradley's for the taking.

With sophomore Tom (Double T) Thacker leading the way and coach Ed Jucker calling the strategy, the bustling Bearcats whipped the third-ranked Braves from Bradley, 73-72, Tuesday night for their 10th straight victory and 15th in 18 games.

And just-like-that, it's a possible free-for-all in the talent filled MVC with Cincinnati, written off after losing its first two games, only percentage points behind Bradley.

Thacker, a Robertson look-alike from Covington, Ky., scored 22 points in the upset, including a dunk shot with 8 seconds left that put away Bradley's second loss (both by one point) in 16 games. Most important, it cut the Braves' MVC lead to almost nothing with Bradley on top with a 5-1 record and Cincinnati an eyelash back at 6-2.

It was the 45th straight triumph for Cincinnati at its fieldhouse, where it plays all but two of three of its home games each season and the biggest of all for Jucker, who stepped into maybe the sizzling hot seat in college basketball when he moved up from assistant to head coach after George Smith waved farewell to Robertson last season and became athletic director.

Mighty Logan Elm, leading the Pickaway County league with a 6-0 record, is not scheduled Friday night. However, the Braves are expecting a heavy struggle when they host the neighboring Redskins of Kingston Saturday.

Ashville's invasion of Walnut will feature some of the top scorers and players in the county league. Ashville, banking strongly on the abilities of Tom Rathbun, Dick Hollenback, Jim Gregg, Paul Fraze and others will run headlong into a solid Tiger outfit.

Spearheading the Walnut aggregation are Tom Harber, the county's leading scorer, and fellow captain Bill Hoover. Both are deadly scorers and rebounders and they get plenty of help from the likes of Clarence Gray, Ray White and Larry Leist.

THE Darby - Scioto encounter probably will see the outcome depend heavily on the performances of Bob Whiteside and Sonny Kerschner of Scioto and Jerry Vance of Darby.

Williamsport will throw its broadside attack of Brooks McCoy, Donnie Steinhauser, Marty Noble and Ron Jacobs against the solid play of Larry and Bob Etel, Gary Thompson and others.

Moore Is Voted Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, today was named Ring magazine's "fighter of the month" for his fourth round technical knockout victory over Spain's Fred Galiana at Madrid.

There were minor changes in the ratings of every division.

Tom McNeely, unbeaten young Arlington, Mass., heavy weight, was ranked for the first time. He made the No. 10 spot.

Lennart Risberg, Swedish stablemate of Ingemar Johansson, gained the tenth position among the light heavyweights by his victory over Tonga's Johnny Halfihii. Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis was promoted from tenth to sixth among the 175-pounders. Doug Jones of New York was boosted from sixth to fifth.

Florentino Fernandez of Cuba was given the No. 8 spot among the middleweights for his eighth round TKO of Rory Calhoun.

Dick Hall, Michigan State basketball player, and Brian Eisner, MSU tennis star, won the Wisconsin high school tennis doubles title in 1958.

150 Articles Collected for Booster Sale

More than 150 articles have been collected for the Circleville Booster Club's White Elephant sale here Saturday, officials of the organization announced today.

An auction will be conducted Saturday at the Ohio National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St., starting at 10 a. m. All the merchandise will be tagged and ready for sale. Proceeds will be used by the Booster Club in promoting athletics at Circleville High school.

Football Coach Carl Benhase and Booster President Ralph Starkey said several of the articles are new and most others are in excellent condition.

Spokesmen said merchandise includes a large assortment of clothing, furniture, appliances, dishes, cooking and baking ware and others. The public is invited to the sale.

The merchandise was picked up the last two Saturdays by members of the CHS basketball and wrestling teams and coaches. The committee in charge of the auction today expressed thanks to all persons who donated articles and to persons giving money instead of merchandise.

Washington owns an earlier 46-45 win over WCH and has high hopes of pulling a repeat. The first test was played on the Blue Lions court. Washington stands in fifth place in the SOC with a 3-5 record, while Circleville holds the cellar spot at 1-8.

BOTH teams have been having their difficulties this season, but records usually are tossed out the window when the two squads meet.

Coach Dick Snouffer's starters probably will be drawn from a roster made up of Sam Weller, Clesson Thomas, Jim Wellington, Garold Dade, Luther Johnson and Dick Kline. Bruce Barnes, the only remaining starting senior, was dismissed from the squad last week.

Washington's ace to date has been Earl Crosswhite, a deadly shot from outside. He is one of the ranking league scorers as is Weller for the Tigers.

Elsewhere in the league Hillsboro is at Greenfield, Miami Trace at Franklin Heights and Pleasant View at Wilmington.

Wilmington, holding a 9-0 league record, rapidly is approaching the finishing wire for the loop championship. In second place is surprising Franklin Heights with a 6-3 mark and Hillsboro is third at 5-3.

Fourth place stands at a tie between Greenfield and Miami Trace at 4-5 each. Washington is next at 3-5, followed by Pleasant View with 3-6 and Circleville 1-8.

Darby Trips Indians in 64-51 Tilt

Darby Twp. Trojans defeated Monroe last night in a 64-51 cage test. The tilt had been postponed from December 9, due to weather conditions at that time.

The visiting Monroe cagers had a one-point lead at the end of the first period, 11-10, but the Darby five ended the first half with a four-point margin, 24-20. The Trojan force then prevailed through the remainder of the skirmish.

Jerry Vance paced the Darby squad with 10 field goals and three free throws for a total of 23. Darwin Conley totaled 15 and Paul Krieger had 12.

Sharing scoring honors for Monroe were Bigam and Hunt with 16 points each.

Darby reserves took the other half of the double cage show by defeating Monroe, 33-32.

Darby, also 15-1, won its seventh straight Atlantic Coast Conference game, getting 31 points from Doug Kistler and 30 from soph Art Heyman in beating South Carolina 107-94. North Carolina (13-2), ran its winning streak to 11 and its ACC record to 6-0 in a 77-46 rout of Clemson as York Larese scored 21 points, Dick Kepley 19 and Doug Moe 18.

Providence (14-2) got 19 points from Johnny Egan and 15 from Jim Hadnot in winning its seventh straight, 80-64 over Brown, and sophomores Jim McCormick (26) for 51 points as West Virginia (15-3) pushed its Southern Conference record to 9-1, whipping VMI 102-91. Vince Kempton's shot from the circle with three seconds left enabled St. Joseph's (Pa.) to nip Wake Forest 72-70 for its 13th victory in 16 tries.

Baylor's Ankles May Hold Key to Fate of Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elgin Baylor gets a whole day to recover from a sprained ankle before playing his next National Basketball Association game.

That sprain could be an important factor in the race between his club, the Los Angeles Lakers, and the Detroit Pistons for second place in the league's Western Division standing.

It occurred Tuesday night—4½ minutes before the end of the third Los Angeles-Detroit game as many nights. The Pistons won this one, played as the first half of a doubleheader in New York's Madison Square Garden, 121-112, and moved out 2½ games ahead of Los Angeles in the second-place race. The Lakers had won at home Sunday and Monday.

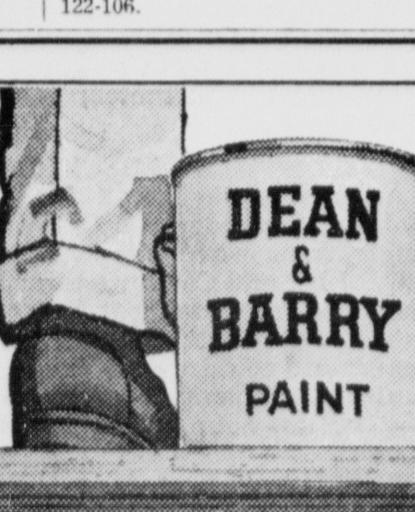

Baylor should be able to play again against St. Louis at Philadelphia Thursday. He scored 47 points before leaving Tuesday night's game.

In Tuesday night's other games the Boston Celtics recovered from a one-night slump and beat the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 and the Syracuse Nats thumped the punchless New York Knickerbockers 122-106.

Qualifiers moved into match play in the National Mixed Foursomes Invitational Golf Tournament to day.

Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., national Amateur champion, and Mrs. Ann Casey Johnston of Mason City, Iowa, shot a 1-under-par 35-35-70 on the Lagore Country Club's 6,300-yard course to pace Tuesday's medal round.

William Hyndman of Philadelphia and Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., teamed for 35-36-71.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If Jack Paar really means it when he says he wants to quit his late evening TV program at the end of this year, he has a great future in the travel talk business.

Tuesday night, Jack had an hour of prime NBC time to show us some amateur movies taken during his recent farflung travels. Some of the pictures were slightly out of focus. Sometimes Jack or his wife had a little trouble locating the subjects of the film. Often the sound track was a bit fuzzy.

Yet it was a fairly entertaining and well-paced program, by turns very funny, quietly amusing and often serious. Paar's narration as he escorted us along some well-trod tourist paths was loaded with bright and often illuminating comment.

We saw Paar clowning in about a dozen countries—but he showed us a lot of the countries too.

It was off-beat and in a quiet key. But I found it fairly enjoyable. I am normally both anti-home movies and anti-travel talks.

Bobby Darin's variety show, which preceded the Paar travelogue, was a "special" in the classic form: lots of music, singing and dance sequences, dramatic settings and a comedy monologue by a guest star—in this case, Bob Hope.

Darin is an ambitious young man with an attractive voice and the poise of Perry Como. His style seems a composite of Sinatra and Crosby with a dash of Donald O'Connor. And this isn't bad.

Singer Joanie Summers was around to add some femininity and high notes to the proceedings while Hope tossed off a series of Washington wise cracks, retreaded to fit a change in administration.

It was a lively show if not a memorable one.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 — Harry Belafonte in one of his rare guest appearances.

GOOD SKATE—Bradley Lord (left) of the Boston Skating Club holds his 1961 national senior men's figure skating championship cup in Colorado Springs, Colo., after besting Gregory Kelley (right) of the hosting Broadmoor Club. Lord was in third place after the school figures, and Kelley was first, but Lord made it up and more in the free skating.

TOKYO CALLING—Prof. Edwin O. Reischauer of Harvard, a scholar on things Japanese and Chinese, may be named ambassador to Japan, it is reported. He was born in Tokyo in 1910.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The place was Pittsburgh's Forbes Field; the time, Oct. 13, 1960 — late afternoon on a hazy autumn day. The score was tied at 9-9 in the ninth inning of the seventh and final game of the World Series when Bill Mazeroski, a .273 hitter, strode to the plate clutching his bat in the manner of mighty Casey, determined to do or die.

Mazeroski did. He slammed Ralph Terry's second pitch high over the left field wall and the Pirates had won the game and the World Series from the New York Yankees.

If there was any more thrilling occasion in sports during 1960, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters hardly know about it. Voting in the annual Associated Press poll, 77 named Mazeroski's series-winning homer as the thrill of the year. Another 26 listed the final World Series game, including a series of exciting events that led up to the winning wallop.

Only 13 listed Floyd Patterson's fifth-round knockout of Ingemar Johansson to regain the world heavyweight boxing champion ship. Nine listed the pro football thriller between the Detroit Lions and Baltimore Colts.

Eight picked the Olympic games as the most thrilling event of 1960 and three individual performances in the summer games drew mention; seven votes went to the victory of the U.S. Olympic hockey team over the Soviet Union in the winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif. Arnold Palmer's tingling last-round play to win the Masters and U.S. Open golf championships drew six votes.

There were a few scattered votes for other exciting events, but in the final count the World Series finish drew more votes for thrill of the year than all the other events mentioned.

Carley Sets Pace For Ankrom Team

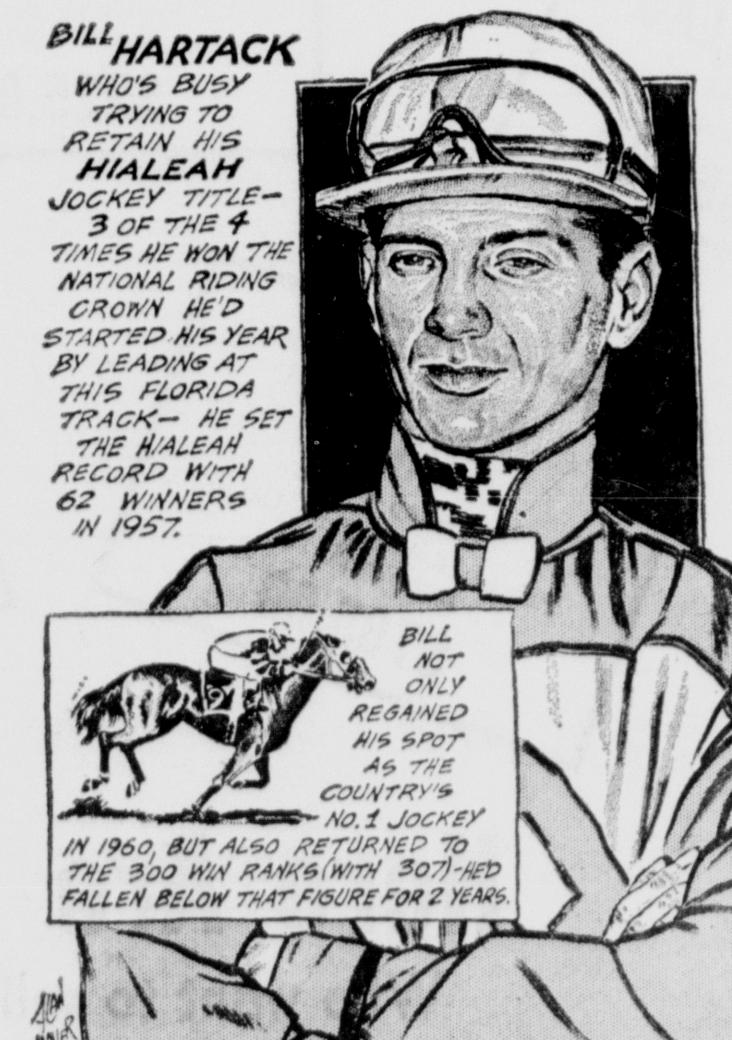

Woody Carley of Ankrom Lumber rolled to the top in Prairie Dogs bowling this week at Prairie Lanes. Carley had a 522 series, including a 215 single game. Bill Halstenberg of Circleville Lumber finished with a 521 for the set.

Team honors went to Circleville Lumber on a 919 single game and 2,649 for the series.

Ankrom Lumber remained in first place in the league, followed closely by Circleville Metal.

Ernest Crummel of Baltimore, Md., has informed Mrs. Marvin Steeley, Circleville, O, of the recent death of his brother, Percy Crummel of Dayton, Ohio.

Death was caused by a heart attack as he was preparing to go to the hardware store where he had worked most of his life. He was 79 years of age.

The Crummel family will be remembered by the older residents of Kingston, where they lived a number of years ago.

the Methodist Church when it met at the Rounsley home Saturday evening. The informal meeting was preceded by a Pot Luck dinner.

Appeal Filed
In Sleeping
Beauty Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — The conviction of Mrs. Lillian Fratantonio for drugging her "sleeping beauty" daughters has been carried to the 8th District Court of Appeals.

The appellate court docketed the case Tuesday for hearing. Mrs. Fratantonio will remain free on $2,500 bond while her attorneys prepare the appeal from her Juvenile Court conviction.

Juvenile Judge Albert A. Woldman last week sentenced the 29-year-old mother of five to a year in the workhouse and fined her $500 and costs—the maximum penalty for mistreating children. Mrs. Fratantonio, who was convicted Dec. 6 by a Juvenile Court jury, won a stay of execution of her sentence pending a hearing on the appeal.

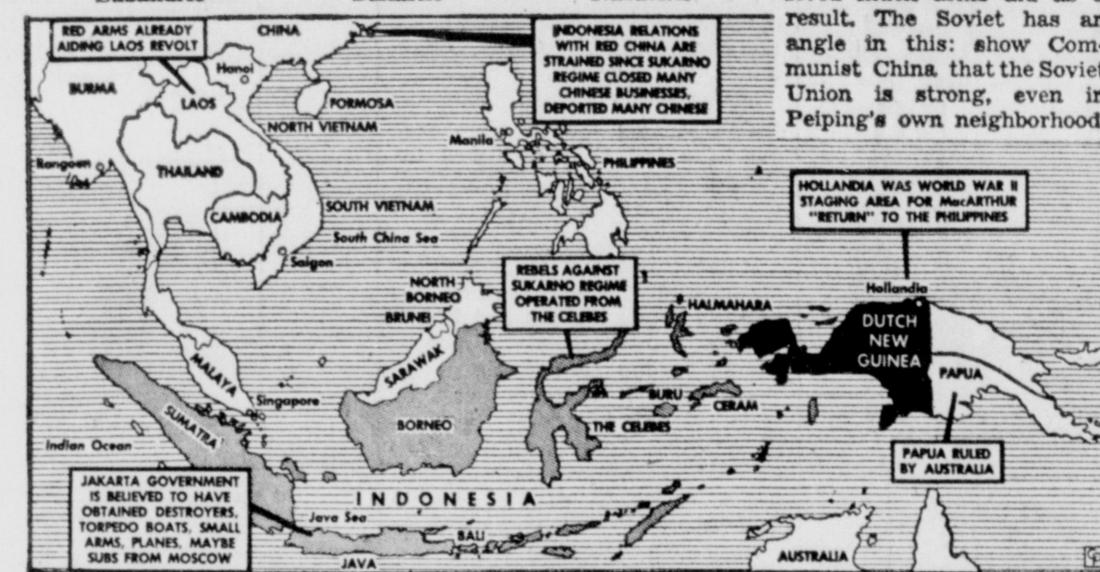

Until her appeal is disposed of, there will be no ruling on custody of the two little girls whose prolonged comas mystified doctors for nearly a year. The girls, Bernadette, 3, and Venia, 6, are temporarily at a Catholic Charities Home.

TIME BOMB? — Next Communist-aided trouble may be an Indonesia attack on Dutch New Guinea, which Indonesia claims, diplomatic observers believe. When Indonesia threw off the Dutch yoke, The Netherlands held onto Dutch New Guinea, the western half of the world's second largest island. Dutch officials are concerned over a trip to Moscow by Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio and Army Chief of Staff Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution. The government of President Achmed Sukarno is believed to have derived much arms aid as a result. The Soviet has an angle in this: show Communist China that the Soviet Union is strong, even in Peking's own neighborhood.

Power Failure Curbs Classes at Kent State

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Night classes were canceled for some 1,400 students at Kent State University Tuesday because of a power failure. The failure, reportedly caused by an overload on a fuse cutoff, occurred at 1:45 p.m., but most afternoon classes continued on schedule.

Lighting in the dormitories was restored at 8 p.m. Dormitory cafeterias served students picnic-style suppers as their electric cooking and dishwashing equipment could not be used.
